DRAYTON VALLEY, ALBERTA
TUESDAY, MAY 18, 1971

Six hundred and thirty marchers, bursting with enthusiasm, briskly set off from the Centennial Arena (above) at the start of last Saturday's annual Miles for Millions March. Six hours and twenty-three miles later the group below cool their feet in the creek, and with considerably less enthusiasm, contemplate the steep hill up the north coulee and the final lap of the long trip home. Details of the march were not completed by press-time and will be carried in next week's issue.

Edson Health Unit Now Serving 25,265 Population

Annual report of the Edson Health Unit to members of the board was presented recently by the Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Helmut Kohlhepp. The unit takes in an area of 14,000 square miles and served a population of 25,265 in 1970, an increase from 22,578 in 1969. The increase was due mainly to the growth of Grande Cache. The unit now maintains four offices, the main office in Edson and sub-offices in Drayton Valley, Hinton and Grande Cache. The sub-office in Drayton Valley was re-located in the new office building erected by the County of Parkland. The new sub-office in Grande Cache is located in the new Provincial Building

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

A slight decrease in the reported cases of Infectious Hepatitis was noted during the past year. Again a few Diphtheria carriers were found during the year to whom strict quarantine measures were applied. No cases of clinical Diphtheria occurred.

During the later part of the year the cases of Measles almost reached epidemic proportions, however it was noted that almost exclusively these children were not immunized or had received only partial immunization. Many children who had only received partial immunization showed modified symptoms of the disease

A rather expected outbreak of Rubella became a fact towards the end of the year. Ninety-three cases of German Measles were reported to the Health Unit. However German Measles being a mild disease many children infected were not seen by a physician. It is estimated that at least 500 children were affected with this disease.

With the increased school population the services to pupils given by nurses increased to 8,130. As in the past years routine vision and hearing tests were performed and children with defects were referred for treatment.

CLINIC SERVICES

Two hundred and seventy-two clinics were held during the year at different locations in the Health Unit area. The total attendance was 7,184 an average of 26 per clinic. While the immunization program for school children, except for Small-pox vaccinations, was for the most part carried out at school, infants, pre-school children and adults received their immunization at these clinics.

During the later part of the year a program of Developmental testing for three year olds was started. The Denver Developmental Screening Test was used

Second Fish Derby Planned By Pembina Fish and Game

The Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association has announced plans for its second annual Fish Derby to be held at the Brazeau Dam on July 17th and 18th.

The event was instituted last summer and proved very popular. The area is being expanded this year to include some of the Arctic watershed to bring grayling into the competition.

The Brazeau area has a good selection of fish species that include pike, walleye, trout, gold-eye, whitefish and grayling.

As well as the usual run of prizes for best fish in the various classes, a prize is being offered if last year's largest fish, a 12 lb. 6 oz. pike, is beaten.

Club members are now working on the compiling of a program for the event and advertisers or prize donors may obtain information from either Ken James, 542-2131 or Mike Karach, 542-4174.

Considerable testing was conducted on the granular bench near the north Saskatchewan bridge. Heavy silting was encountered in the test wells and the next step proposed by the engineering firm was to attempt to design a gravel pack and screen to overcome the silting problem.

At Thursday's meeting it was decided to give up further well testing and use the river where a guaranteed supply can be depended upon.

It was noted that the community has depended on wells since incorporation with accompanying heavy cost and unreliable supply. Although initial cost in using the river source will be heavy, it was also observed that the continued outlay of funds in searching for improved supply would be ended.

Council will now seek the approval of the local Authorities Board to borrow $200,000, and proceed with the project which will entail a river intake, pumping facilities and a two and one-half mile pipeline to link up with the present system.

The decision to use river water followed several days of critical water supply in the town. The supply was shut off to consumers when it was found the elevated tank was almost dry and a fire under the circumstances could have been disastrous.

In order to keep a water reserve in the tank the water was released to users at only brief regular periods during the day.

A good rain fall Thursday evening temporarily removed the problem of lawn watering that takes a heavy toll of the water supply but an abundant supply is not likely to be available at any time during the summer, especially if it proves hot and dry.

It was pointed out at Thursday's meeting, that water restrictions announced recently, will remain in force indefinitely.

Rodeo Parade Entries Sought

Preparations are underway for this year's rodeo parade to be held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, June 12th.

Parade Marshall Harold Reinhart is now seeking entries and invites companies and business places to help ensure a successful parade by sponsoring floats or exhibits.

Those who wish to take part are asked to submit entries at the earliest possible date to M. Halushka, P.O. Box 453, Drayton Valley, Alberta.

Police Clarify Bike Licenses

Sgt. B. Thorstad of the local R.C.M.P. Detachment advises that many adults and children in Drayton Valley are wrongly under the opinion that persons can operate motor bikes unsupervised on the strength of a Learner's Licence. This is not so and the requirements of the Highway Traffic Act are that a person driving a motor bike on a Learner's Licence must be under the supervision of a person twenty-one or older who holds a valid operators licence.

A person between 14 and 16 years of age may obtain a class "D" licence however, with a restriction on it for operating power bikes only after having successfully completed a driver's examination.

Ecology Corps Workers Here

Two students are at work in Drayton Valley under the provincial government's Ecology Corps program for summer employment.

They will be joined June 1st by another member and will undertake a number of jobs, including tree-planting. The girls have been employed on parks clean-up during the past few days.

Golf Meeting

Lady golfers are reminded that there will be a meeting at the Club House on Wednesday, May 19th at 7:30 p.m.

All interested ladies are invited to attend.

Elks Re-elect Bob Cowan

At the Annual Spring meeting of Alberta District No. 13 of the Benevolent and Protective Elks of Canada, held at Hinton on May 1st, Bob Cowan of Drayton Valley was re-elected to the office of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for a second year.

The meeting, attended by delegates from all lodges between Jasper, and Gainford was also honoured by the presence of Alberta Elks Association President, Mr. A. Kapp of Calgary and Past President, Mr. C. Fraser of Leduc.

The Drayton Valley Lodge was awarded the trophy for the greatest gain in lodge membership within the district over the past year while the trophy for the largest per capita contribution to the Elks Purple Cross Fund went to the Gainford Lodge.

Attending the meeting from Drayton Valley, along with Bob Cowan were Howard Cathrea, Earl Kelly and Bob Simon.

Lt. Col. A. Herbin of C.F.B. Edmonton is shown here inspecting cadets at last week's annual inspection of No. 733 Air Cadet Squadron.

Census to Ask Business Facts

The Census of Canada, while primarily concerned with people, housing and farming, will also be taking a look at business to compile an inventory of all retail, wholesale and service establishments across Canada.

Everyone owning or managing a business in one of those three categories -- and for the first time professional services such as architects, lawyers, engineers are included -- can expect a call from a Census Representative during the period May 25 to May 29.

The interview will take minimal time, however. Only basic details will be asked, such as: -- Name and address; Whether retail, wholesale or service business; A brief description of the type of business; numbers of personnel; and Whether space is leased out to other businesses.

The purpose of this inventory is to establish, by size and kind of business, an up-to-date list of about 300 kinds of business for the more detailed Census of Merchandising and Service Businesses, which will be taken by mail questionnaires at the end of the year.

When the final tally is made, it is expected that some 500,000 businesses in the three categories will have been listed across Canada, ranging from the corner store to the largest of the retail chain outlets and including thousands of one-man or one-woman operations.

Health Unit Annual Report

as a simple method to screen preschoolers for evidence of slow development. This test covers four major functions, gross motor development, language skills, fine motor development and personal-social development. Of the children tested two deaf children were discovered.

The Travelling Guidance Clinic spent a total of twelve days in this Health Unit during 1970. Children assessed by Guidance Clinic were initially referred by their parents, teachers, or Health Unit personnel. The number of children involved as well as the urgency of some cases made it necessary to refer many children directly to Child Guidance Clinic in Edmonton.

A limited home visiting program was carried out for persons recently released from mental institutions.

Several series of Pre-natal Classes were given from each of the offices throughout the year. The co-operation of the family physicians in referring their patients for pre-natal classes has been excellent.

Other Health Education lectures, films, and informal talks were given in the schools. Topics covered included Personal Development and Hygiene, drug use, and venereal disease. Pamphlets, brochures, films and other health education material was provided to the schools for use by the teachers.

ENVIRONMENTAL HYGIENE

All municipal water supplies have been regularly checked and all samples were found satisfactory. Iron bacteria problems were encountered in several isolated areas however superchlorination of the particular portion of the system rectified the condition. Water supplies at all campsites were checked at least twice during the summer and all samples revealed satisfactory results.

Private water samples were submitted on request. The number of these requests is steadily increasing which suggests that people are becoming more conscious of a safe water supply.

In general the standard of restaurants is good however there are several operations that require constant vigilance. Fifty-one public eating establishments were operating within the Health Unit during the year and a turn over of thirteen operators (25%) took place. Two restaurants were closed, two establishments made extensive renovations and five new restaurants commenced operation.

Overcrowding conditions in many of the older trailer courts is very evident. In most cases these trailer courts were not originally designed for the large mobile homes that are now very popular. Several new mobile home parks providing larger lots have been established. Two mobile home subdivisions have also been recently developed. These new developments appear to be of a very good standard.

Numerous subdivision applications were received by the office for investigation and recommendations. In several cases objections were registered against further subdividing in populated residential areas where no sewer and water services are provided or where services are unlikely.

Considerable time was spent on waste disposal grounds. Provincial Board of Health Regulations requires that all waste disposal grounds be upgraded to a "Modified landfill" standard by January 1, 1971. Only one municipality did not fully comply however no problems are anticipated in the change over.

Public swimming pools were operated in a satisfactory manner under the control of well qualified personnel. Routine water samples revealed the absence of Coliforms in all cases.

During the year a total of 552 births were recorded and 127 deaths.

A range of flail type, power-driven manure spreaders have been designed in Britain to handle all types of manure. They spread it quickly and accurately with minimum power and low maintenance costs. They are made by Colchester Tillage Ltd., Hythe Hill, Colchester, Essex.

School Authorities Association Rejects Concillation Report

A conciliation commissioner's report recently issued to assist in settling a dispute between the Alberta Teachers' Association and the North-Central Alberta School Authorities Association has been rejected by NCASAA.

A spokesman for NCASAA says recommendations contained in the report boil down to "more pay and less work for teachers and would result in heavier financial burdens for ratepayers in the areas affected."

The school boards represented by NCASAA include Barrhead County No. 11, Lac Ste Anne County No. 28, Parkland County No. 31, Westlock School Division No. 37, Drayton Valley RCSSD No. 111, Grande Cache School District No. 5258, Jasper School District No. 3063 and Thibault C.P. School District No. 35.

The issuing of the report is the latest development in negotiations between the 650 teachers employed by these boards and NCASAA which began last November.

NCASAA blames the lack of progress in collective bargaining on what it claims to be the strictly labour union attitude which ATA negotiators have adopted at the bargaining table.

This attitude has been reflected in the ATA demand to have such items as hours of work written into the collective agreement which according to the school boards, is not in keeping with the professional status enjoyed by teachers.

Although NCASAA is unhappy with many of the recommendations in the commissioner's report it has taken particular objection to a recommendation which would not allow teachers to be scheduled for more than 30 hours of work per week of which a maximum of 23 1/3 hours would be spent in instructing pupils.

The boards have pointed out that the School Act already limits teachers from providing classroom instruction for more than 27 1/2 hours per week unless a teacher agrees.

The boards state they have recognized that a teacher's time extends beyond that spent in instruction, but they are hesitant to legislate hours of work on a group of professional people as is done in labour contracts.

The boards also claim that this recommendation would restrict their flexibility in staffing schools and would result in the hiring of additional teachers in some schools. They are also of the opinion that as it now stands, the teachers workload is not excessive.

The boards have also taken exception to a recommendation which would make the dates of the school year negotiable.

They oppose this proposal on the grounds that the School Act 1970 already limits teachers to a maximum of 200 days per year of instructing pupils. On the specification of exact dates for vacation periods, holidays and starting and ending the school year, the boards point out that these dates would affect not only teachers but also students, parents, the community and other non-teaching employees.

The boards, in consultation with the local teachers, are willing to set the dates in board policy but are opposed to making these dates negotiable in the collective agreement.

The boards have also found the salary proposals contained in the report to be unacceptably high.

The report recommends a 28 month agreement for all school jurisdictions except the County of Parkland which is for a two year agreement. Under its conditions there would be one standard salary grid for all jurisdictions which would result in increases ranging from 7.7% to 10.2% in the first 16 months of the agreement (September 1, 1970 to December 31, 1971) and a further 6% for the calendar year 1972.

In addition to this teachers automatically receive an experience increment in salary ranging from 2 to 3% at the beginning of each year.

The NCASAA spokesman said that considering the financial implications these increases would have on ratepayers, the boards have no choice but to reject the conciliation commissioners recommendations.

However, the spokesman added NCASAA representatives are prepared to continue discussion of the issues with the assistance of a government mediator.

The Conciliation Commissioner Recommendation on salaries, principals allowances and medical and group insurance benefits would cost the County of Parkland in 1971 an additional $145,000 or 6.8%. The Recommendation calls for a further increase of $138,000 or 6.1% in 1972.

The recommendation would cost Drayton Valley RCSSD #111 over a 16 month period (Sept. 1/70 - Dec. 31/71) an additional $14,200 or 9.4% with a further increase of $10,500 in 1972 or 6.4%.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (Of the Calgary Herald)

The forthcoming study of provincial-municipal fiscal relations may be an important tool in the task of determining the future rights and responsibilities of the two levels of government.

Municipal Affairs Minister Fred Colborne is hopeful the commission will provide government officials with workable suggestions for dividing the areas of responsibility and the revenue sources available to finance the programs.

The job won't be easy, and solutions can only be temporary ones.

Local governments complain they lack sufficient revenue sources to finance projects as diverse as sewers and rapid transit. Provincial politicians are reluctant to provide their local counterparts with additional money unless there are strings attached.

In the past, the province has contributed to specific local projects such as freeways and expressways on a cost-shared basis, ensuring that provincial funds are used for structures which meet Alberta-wide standards.

"We want to give municipalities sources of revenue they could administer themselves," Mr. Colborne says. "It is pretty difficult for a government to be autonomous if it has to depend upon another government for a majority of its funds."

The fiscal relations study is being established by the Social Credit government in consultation with the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties and the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association. Mr. Colborne wants its members to be full-time workers prepared to provide the answers "as fast as we can get them."

The project is being undertaken in an atmosphere of friction between municipal and provincial politicians, who constantly feud over the issues of local autonomy amid Conservative Opposition charges that the Socials are eroding municipal rights.

On another provincial front, there are signs that the provincial government is examining Labor Act amendments which would require employers to give notice of large lay-offs and to include cost-of-living adjustments in workmen's compensation benefits.

Labor Minister Ray Reiersen hinted at the recent Alberta Federation of Labor convention in Calgary that the Labor Act will be rewritten and considered at the 1972 Legislature session.

High on the list of government priorities is the possibility of importing Ontario legislation which forces employers to provide up to six months notice for employees with seniority.

"Ontario's legislation is pretty innocuous and it is difficult to see how workable it will be, but we are keeping an eye on it," Mr. Reiersen told the labor convention delegates.

Any amendments to the Labor Act would be aired at public hearings with representation from labor and management allowed, the cabinet minister said.

During the recent Legislature session, the Conservatives attempted to gain approval for legislation requiring advance notice of lay-offs, but the Opposition bill died on the order paper.

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Again this year the Elementary School is having a display of children's work. This year the display will be in the individual classrooms and hallways. Open House will be tomorrow, May 19th from 2:00 to 3:30 and from 7:00 to 9:00. If you come in the afternoon, just walk into the classroom, and hopefully the children will continue working. During the evening the teachers will be available for comments. Be sure to sign the guest list in each classroom that you are in.

Excitement reigned supreme in Room 13, Grade three, on Friday with the arrival of four baby gerbels. These will be on display and be sure to watch for films of them on the T.V. monitor that will be set up in the gym.

Several other classes will be seen on the T.V. set up.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

Election speculation has been common in the last several weeks. Some are predicting that Canadian voters will be asked to go to the polls this fall.

If one is inclined to read things into unrelated events, recent and upcoming movements into and out of Ottawa, could well be taken to indicate an early election.

Cabinet Ministers have been taking on an increasing number of speaking engagements in all corners of the country. Rocky Mountain will have a good share of them in the next few months.

Included in the list of future visitors to various parts of the riding are: Finance Minister Benson, Solicitor General Goyer, Energy Minister Greene, Transport Minister Jamieson, Justice Minister Turner, and Prime Minister Trudeau.

Most of the planned Ministerial visits are due, of course, to the fact that a number of large and important conventions will be held in Banff and Jasper.

Many of the Ministers referred to will be addressing these conventions. To conclude from these visits that an election is around the corner is therefore unwise.

On the other hand, there are those who have already started making preparations for the next election. Among these are the returning officers in each riding. Groups of them have been coming to Ottawa for several weeks for study sessions on the new Election Act which was passed last year. The new Act, amongst other things, lowers the voting age to eighteen and allows proxy voting in some limited cases.

Included in a recent group of returning officers to attend a study session in Ottawa was Sandy Robinson of Jasper, returning officer for our riding.

Sandy was only one of a number of individuals from the riding to visit Ottawa in other than a personal capacity.

Sam Sinclair, the Human Resources Development Officer, responsible for the Native communities in the Grande Cache-Hinton-Edson-Whitecourt area, recently spent several days in Ottawa working on various schemes for the betterment of the Native society in the northern part of the riding.

A delegation from Morley headed by Chief John Snow made a good impression while trying to get financial help from the Indian Affairs Department for the construction of a recreation complex on the reserve.

Miss Laura Leake of Drayton Valley was one of two hundred and seventy-five high school students who visited Ottawa as part of the Adventure in Citizenship sponsored by Rotary Clubs throughout Canada. Laura was overwhelmed by the multitude of activities laid on for the Adventurers. She was an excellent choice as a representative of the Drayton Valley Rotary, and indeed for the whole area, to this annual gathering of outstanding young people.

Lastly, Hinton Chief of Police, Dodger Clark, has been soaking up knowledge at the Canadian Police College in the National Capital for several weeks.

I have been delighted to be able to spend some time with each of these visitors. The warm months usually bring increased numbers of people through Ottawa and Rocky Mountain riding always contributes to this influx.

Enjoy a Wild Holiday

Wild is the word for Alberta.

Wild in the dictionary sense, with thousands of square miles of virgin forest, unspoiled lakes and streams and rugged mountain peaks.

Wild in the modern meaning of the word, with swinging cities and holiday resorts beckoning to the visitor with after-dark entertainment and festivals of enjoyment to rival the fabled Mardi Gras.

As widely separated as these two concepts are in spirit and atmosphere, in Alberta and in fact, they exist side by side. From the lakes and forests of the vast northern areas of the province to the inviting bright lights of the capital city of Edmonton is only a matter of hours. It takes even less time to travel from the entertainment and enjoyment offered by the City of Calgary to the rolling foothills and towering peaks of the Rocky Mountains.

And what a vista awaits the visitor to the wilderness area of Alberta. Travel north, through rugged bush and lakeland, by car up the Mackenzie Highway to the Northwest Territories, or to the Peace River Country and beyond on the Alaska Highway. Travel by plane to a secluded fishing camp for fighting trout, northern pike and walleye await the angler.

Travel west into a world of awesome beauty, where your horizon is a never-ending panorama of snow-capped peaks. Take the highway that joins two of the world's most famous resort areas, Banff and Jasper, transversing the very heart of the mountain ranges and touching the edge of the legendary Columbia Ice Fields.

To be truly a part of Alberta's wilderness, drive the forestry trunk road that takes you from the Peace River Country almost to the southern boundary of the province. This rugged road winds its way through hundreds of miles of spectacular scenery in the Rocky Mountains forestry reserves.

On the other side of the wild, "now" cities offer gourmet dining, night-clubbing with famous name entertainment, spine-tingling sports attractions and such far-out features as hardrock groups in concert with symphony orchestras.

Whatever recipe you concoct for your own enjoyment, the ingredients are all there, in Alberta cities.

And, of course, for the wildest time of all, there are the fabulous festivals that each year spark the cities with high-spirited, enthusiastic, all-out fun!

Try a vacation on the wild side ... the kind of wild you most enjoy ... the peace and beauty of thousands of square miles of wilderness untouched by any hand but nature's ... or the color and gaiety of a sophisticated city and its pulse-stirring annual celebration. Plan your wild vacation right here at home in Alberta this summer. You'll find much to enjoy.

Reeve's Report

The month of April saw us try to establish our Public Works program for the year. Some construction will take place with the major project being the Highvale road on which we receive assistance by way of a natural resources grant. We have a fairly large oiling program planned but with a large increase in oil prices it will cut down the total miles. We were also asked to present to the government our priorities for the secondary highway system. This network has been laid out by the government and we simply listed our top four priorities. We chose 118th Avenue west, the road from Edmonton to Highvale on the township line, the Carvel road and the Drayton Valley-Lodgepole road. We have now been informed that a start will be made on the 118th Avenue west project.

The Province of Alberta is initiating an Alberta Clean-Up during the last two weeks of May. We propose to co-operate with them and you will have seen ads to this effect in your paper giving details. We would encourage all of you to also co-operate and help clean up our County.

Council has agreed with the request of Drayton Valley to establish a Senior Citizens Home in that town and it is hoped government approval will be forthcoming very soon. As well, at Drayton Valley, we have stationed a mechanic, Mr. Lourent Paulin, in the shop on a permanent basis to facilitate repairs in the western area.

We are hoping to be able to take advantage of some of the youth employment programs initiated by both federal and provincial governments. Acting on advice of our Advisory Committee, we submitted several proposals but as yet have received no reply. We are also proposing to try and provide an employment referral service. As a start it will simply be that anyone wishing employment may leave their name, phone number, etc. at the County Office in Stony Plain or Drayton Valley. Persons looking for help may contact these offices and get the names of these people. We do not know how useful this may be but felt it was worth a try.

Our Development Control Officer resigned to go into private business and has been replaced by his assistant, Mr. Allan Altheim. We also engaged an Assistant Agricultural Fieldman, Mr. Otto Reich, who will certainly be no stranger to most of the farmers in the County.

With the steady influx of people at Spruce Grove and Winterburn, we have applied for additions to the schools in both Spruce Grove and Winterburn. We asked for eight rooms at Junior High plus 2-station Industrial Arts and Home Economics rooms, three rooms in a building to be built by the community (Serplex) and ten rooms at Winterburn. We hope approvals arrive soon so some of it may be available next fall, but time is fast disappearing. An Assistant Superintendent of Curriculum has now been employed - Mr. Alvin Myhre. This now completes the personnel to fill the structure for school, as proposed by the team from the University of Alberta who did a study for us last year. A school policy handbook has now been completed and approved. Anyone wishing to see a copy may do so at the County Office or at any school. We think it is well done and commend the committee who did the work.

I have as yet received no indication of whether or not this letter is doing what the motion at the annual meeting requested, and would sure appreciate some comments.

We are now working on the budget and for the letter in May. I should be able to report the budget for this year and the 1971 mill rate.

Sincerely,
Les Miller - Reeve

FABRIC PRINTING

Fabric printing is a relatively new craft in Alberta. With today's accent on creative crafts, fabric printing gives a person a ready outlet to create useful items for the home. Fabric printing has a distinct simplicity so making it possible for almost anyone to enjoy this craft.

METHOD

Several methods are used in fabric printing. One is block printing where a linoleum block surface is cut, leaving the uncut areas to print the color on the fabric. There are numerous variations of this method using objects to create designs to creating designs using cut out felt on blocks.

Another very popular method is known as "Batik". This is an ancient wax resist method where hot wax is applied to the fabric. This wax "blocks out" the dye and after progressive waxing and dyeing a design is created.

Tie and Dye has enjoyed considerable popularity recently. Again it is a resist - dye process where the dye is not allowed to be absorbed into some areas. This is prevented by means of knotting, folding or sewing. Design can also be applied singly or with any of the other methods using fabric paints such as liquid embroidery paints.

It all sounds very interesting doesn't it? Are you interested in creating some personalized cushion tops, place mats, table cloths wall hangings, curtains or even yard goods for dresses.

WORKSHOPS:

Parkland Recreation Council and the D.H.E. are planning two workshops on fabric painting. The first workshop will be held in the Entwistle Community Centre, May 18, 19 and 20. Time: 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. 6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

The second workshop will be held at Stony Plain at the Recreation Office on June 8, 9, and 10. Time - 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Registration will be $3.00. Please register by phoning the Parkland Recreation Office at 777-2211 by June 4.

For further information phone or write Parkland Recreation Council or myself.

BRIGHTWOOD NEWS

(Too late for last week)

Bill Blakeman of Drayton Valley sold his Entwistle home to Wayne Clarke and took Wayne's house trailer as a trade. Bill was taking the trailer back to Drayton Valley, then it started to fish-tail and then overturned by Kos's hill. Damages are estimated at $900.

Gordon McEachern and daughter, Faye Kaleschuk of Drayton Valley attended the wedding of Miss Susanne Zeddell in Edmonton on May 1st.

It has been an exceptionally long winter and some farmers were not able to finish combining and got caught in the snow. A. Osredkar was one of these and he has been seen lately combining merrily away to finish last years harvesting.

The return of the crow, robin, snipe and duck is the first sign of spring. The second sign is the crowd of farmers attending the first spring farm auctions and talk all around concerning the aspirations of the coming season.

The Miller brothers have sold their farm to the water resources department of the Provincial Government and is one of the many farms being bought by the Government in preparation for the construction of the new dam.

LETTERS

TO THE
EDITOR

Editor,
The Western Review,
Dear Sir:

First of all may I compliment the organization of the Miles for Millions March Committee for Drayton Valley. It truly was a marvel to see the organization and personnel in action. Always caring for the marchers, the oil trade personnel and other private and businessmen of the town can take a bow for its achievement.

Next I wish to thank my many sponsors, the Mayor and Council of Drayton Valley, the Reeve and Council of Parkland and its office force, Public Works Department, Police, and one major supplier from the City of Edmonton, the businessmen of Drayton Valley and also many individual citizens of Drayton Valley. The Progressive Conservative Association of the Drayton Valley Constituency and my father and mother, these people paid $22.15 per mile toward the senior citizen home of Drayton Valley.

It was a privilege for me to walk the 25 miles, however the last miles seemed the longest. One more note Mr. Editor it was my privilege to walk with eleven boys and girls from Drayton Valley and I say this, the town of Drayton Valley should give an H for the achievement of those young citizens of Drayton Valley. You should indeed be proud of them.

One more note I walked with an eleven year old girl. She lives somewhere in the north of the town. I think her name was Debbie, she and some others and myself walked from check point 2 to beyond check point 5. I'm wondering if she and her group made it to number 8, if you read this Debbie somehow pass the message along. This group Mr. Editor should get a H+ for their individual courage and determination to walk for our senior citizens, it was indeed a pleasure to have their company along the way.

Thank you for your space
Rusty Zander.

CARNWOOD NEWS

Deepest sympathy is extended from the community to the Neff and Rutherford families on the loss of their father Mr. E. T. Neff, who passed away recently. Mr. Neff farmed in the Carnwood district from 1938 to 1960 then retired to Warburg where he lived until the time of his death. He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion for 45 years, and was a very conscientious worker for the Legion. Mr. Neff will be greatly missed by all the Comrades and Auxiliary members of Warburg Legion Branch No. 205. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Saunders spent Mother's Day at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Dell Burr and family. Get well wishes to Mrs. Mert Wollen who spent a few days in Drayton Valley hospital and to Mrs. Arnold Foster who is a patient in the Drayton Valley hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowen and family of Whitecourt were down to attend the funeral of Richard's grandfather, Mr. E. T. Neff. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Belanger of Fort Nelson, B.C. spent a few days in the district visiting relatives and friends enroute home. We are glad to hear that Lloyd Ellis is now home after a two week stay in the Drayton Valley hospital. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, nee Trudy Van De Castle, who were married on May 8th in Drayton Valley.

The following letter was received from Dr. T. C. Byrne regarding allocation of Debenture

Funds in 1971:-

"Dear Sir:
1971 Allocation of Debenture Funds

After long consideration of the allocation of available debenture funds, we wish to inform your board that it might expect to receive in 1971 further funds committed for projects tendered in 1970, and in addition the following amount of money for school projects which may qualify for tendering in 1971:

$180,000 - Spruce Grove Addition.

The amount of the above allocation may require some deferment of your building plans, and some scheduling of tender dates in order to obviate the necessity of short term borrowing to meet progress payments during the year.

In arriving at your apportionment of debenture funds, the prime consideration has been for conditions associated with the increased number of pupils, and providing construction where at present there is no available space.

Where the amount of money available in 1971 is not sufficient to meet the total estimated cost of the current building program, it is expected that a further allocation will be made in 1972 for projects tendered in 1971.

Yours very truly,
Deputy Minister"

Cadet promotions were a feature of last Thursday evening's annual inspection of the Drayton Valley No. 733 Air Cadet Squadron. Receiving promotions were the cadets shown here. ### 4-H CONSERVATION CAMP IN AUGUST

Conservation is an activity that all should be keenly interested in. The Conservation Camp for 4-H members provides them with a chance to become more familiar with some of the different types of conservation such as wildlife, soil, range, plant, forest, and water.

It gives them a chance to experience and visualize certain methods and procedures of conservation so these can be carried back to their community. Along with the conservation aspect, there will be an action packed week spent (north of Sundre) in the beautiful James River area with 4-H members from all over Alberta, from August 8th to 14th.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE D.A.

Phone Stony Plain 777-2231 between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

E. C. LOWE TOM BROWN
District Agriculturist Asst. Dist. Agriculturist

In Drayton Valley each Wednesday at Sekura Auction Mart from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Tractor noise, along with all the other noise pollutants in our environment is being recognized more and more as a health hazard. There is well documented evidence that extended noise exposure causes hearing loss. However, despite this knowledge, there is at present little tangible reduction in tractor noise levels to which farmers are exposed.

Manufacturers have studied and investigated means of reducing noise sources. They consider that technical solutions can be developed but there is a cost penalty that will have to be paid by the buyer. Also, the customer will have to be convinced that a quieter machine does not mean poorer performance.

The maximum allowable noise level in factories is 95 decibels - a measure of sound. Current information indicates that tractor noise ranges from 92 to 114 decibels. Noise does not necessarily increase with tractor size but increasing the load increases noise. Tractors with cabs have greater noise levels. Diesels are noisier than gas models, and noise exposure is greater when standing than when sitting.

There are ways to reduce this noise hazard that deafens drivers - first temporarily, then permanently.

Operators can purchase and use ear protectors. Ear muffs, hard shells sealed around the ear with plastic rings containing fluid are hot and uncomfortable but give the most efficient and quickly obtained ear protection possible.

Tractor cab modification (for those that have them) can be made to reduce noise. Cabs may be insulated with 1" fiberglass covered with vinyl and by foam rubber on the floor. All cracks at corners and around exposed controls should be carefully sealed. The insulating value is lost when the cab windows are opened, therefore air conditioning will also have to be considered.

Since the exhaust system is the main source of noise, it should be maintained in good condition. An exhaust snubber (large volume muffler) often used on stationery engines can further reduce the noise level.

HART CANTELON

The Western Review is pleased to introduce a weekly column by the well-known counsellor Mr. Hart Cantelon of Edmonton. Readers wishing to write to Mr. Cantelon are invited to do so. All letters to be forwarded to Hart Cantelon Counselling Services Ltd., 1600 Cambridge Building, Edmonton. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope to ensure a reply.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

Presently I am over eight months pregnant and my life with my husband is in complete turmoil. For over six months, the pressure between us has been building up to the point where sometimes I'd just like a separation just to have peace of mind. My physical condition has been such during this pregnancy that I wish I didn't have to have this child. My husband has a five-year old boy who is also involved in our problem. This was from a previous marriage. Since this trouble with my husband and I has started I have begun to resent having to babysit this child. What do I do?

Dear Wife:

First, go and see your doctor, and insist that he give you some time to talk through the psychological implications and reactions to your pregnancy. Doctors are busy people. It is easy to treat each pregnancy as "normal". Physically, perhaps it is. But the emotional reactions vary. Some women can handle these themselves. Others need help. You are in need of this kind of medical counselling. So arrange an appointment and make sure his receptionist gives sufficient time to have his help. Secondly, you need to realize that when tensions arise between people, we almost instinctively look for a reason. This kind of searching often ends up in latching on to a scapegoat which seems to explain away the difficulty. This is exactly what you are doing with your step-son. Your resentment is being vented against him when the real problem lies between your husband and yourself. Accept this fact, and seek help for yourself. Don't insist on dragging him along at this point. He'll likely rebel and resent this action on your part. But you do it for your sake, and soon he'll notice a difference in your attitudes and then have the seed of a desire to get some help himself. Any of the counselling agencies in your community can help. Start with your clergyman or priest, if you feel you can relate.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

I am a teenager and have been asked to deliver a speech to a group of young people on the subject of "Racial Prejudice". This is to be followed by a discussion, which I have been asked to lead. Could you help me by telling me what areas of prejudice you have found and how these problems can be dealt with. I would like to begin my speech with the words from the song "What Color is God's Skin?", and tell about prejudice in our own living such as school and work. I would also like to be able to suggest a workable and practical remedy that each one of us as young people can follow.

Dear Teenager:

There are many areas of prejudice operative in our Western world. For example, I drive by a school-yard, and I notice a little boy standing by the wall watching the rest play. I find that he was very ill as a baby and has not been able to develop muscular co-ordination. Because he cannot throw a ball, or catch it as well as his friends, he never gets picked when a team is chosen. In another school ground I see a group of children quietly huddled in a corner. When I draw near to them, I find they have a darker skin than I have. But they are talking a language I understand, because, you see, I was raised on a Cree reservation as a boy, and these Indian children are trying to become part of a white society. They are having little luck. So why not look around your own school and community. Watch the cliques and divisions that are there. Recognize these divisions for what they are, namely, another form of prejudice. Then start action. Make sure this doesn't happen where you are. And if you can solve it there, you'll be a part to solving it for the whole world. Remember charity begins at home. So does anti-prejudice.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

My problem is so simple and yet so very complex. I have poor study habits. I can sit for hours at a time and not learn a thing. I don't mind studying, it's just that I know I'm not learning as much as I should in a certain period of time. It is really depressing when you sit there, trying to absorb ideas and facts, trying to interpret them, trying to understand them, and you can't. Unfortunately, I find it impossible to study in my own room because I share that room with another girl friend. It has come to a point where it takes me a couple of hours to go through what should take me but thirty minutes. I'm glad there is someone to write to for advice. I've really tried various methods of studying suggested by others but none has proved successful. I hope that I can finally be relieved with your help.

Dear Student:

Approaching the problem of studying requires as systematic a plan as if you were building a house or tilling a field. There are three basic principles involved, namely, mastery, review and recall. Many students spend too much time on any one subject. You should have a chart up on the wall in front of your desk, with the subjects you are taking listed in one column and the days of the week across the top. You should spend at least thirty minutes on each subject, and no more. Move from one subject to another systematically. If you study math for thirty minutes, then move to social studies, and so on. When you have one day with no homework in that given subject, use the thirty minutes that night in reviewing something you mastered a month ago. Once a week, test yourself, by flipping back a couple of chapters in your text, and see if you can recall the answers to the review questions. But above all else, be systematic about it. Don't just sit there and stew about what you haven't accomplished. Look at your chart, and see where you're at. What is more get some quiet place, by yourself, alone, even if you have to go to the cellar.

A.C.W. Group Raises Funds

May meeting of the ACW was held in the Parish Hall. Members brought several articles to make up ditty bags for men and women being released from prison.

The worship portion of the meeting was the reading and discussion of Matthew 6:1-18. The Missionary Fund for Dr. and Mrs. Maclure has over $300 in it. This will be sent to them as soon as they are established in their new mission in Sierra Leone.

Plans were made to have the annual Strawberry Dessert Party on June 18th from 4:00 to 8:30 p.m. The money raised will be donated to Dr. Maclure's Missionary Fund and St. John's Priory.

Oil Wives Elect New Officers

The May meeting of the Drayton Valley Oil Wives was held in the Cardium Room with 73 members and nine guests present. The members enjoyed a Chinese food supper.

The meeting chaired by Donna Gawalko voted to cover the cost of the float above the raffish money. Lorraine Custance is in charge of the float.

Kay Meraw presented Nat Boot-sma with a Honorary Pin.

The club has nominated Dot Booker for a Life Membership. This award is presented by the Association Board at the Convention.

A box of chocolates, raffled to raise money for the float, was won by May Wachter.

The girls running for office were divided into two slates for campaign purposes. One group held a fashion show of the talent in hot pants and the other group dressed "hip" and marched and sang for votes.

While the votes were being counted, Lil Ross led a sing-song.

The new executive elected consists of: President, Carol Lawrence; First Vice President, May Barker; Second Vice President, Myma Townsend; Secretary, Dianne Hegholz; Treasurer, Faye Fleming; Membership, Eunice Lyle; Reservations, Joan Erickson; Program, Lorraine Custance; Constitution, Carol Kokas; Publicity, Jackie Makarowski; and Historian, Gil Hasenclever.

For the next executive meeting the old and new executive get together for a supper meeting.

On April 1, 1971 Canadian butter stocks were 50,753,000 pounds compared with 66,152,000 pounds on March 1, 1970.

PARKCOURT NEWS

(Too late for last week)

The regular meeting of the Gay Gatherers was held a week early at the home of Mrs. Carol Greenwood. Regular business was attended to. Then plans were made concerning the Farmers' Day picnic and it was decided to serve chicken again for the noon meal. The next meeting will be held with the men's club on the 1st of June. The newsletter was then written. Mrs. Elaine Greenwood won the hostess prize.

Farmers are beginning work on the land. They are busy buying and selling grain, hauling feed and fertilizer and getting machinery in readiness for the busy days ahead.

Sorry to hear the little Freddie Markonitz had the misfortune to be run over by his father's truck. He is in the Drayton Valley Hospital at present.

Mr. Stanley Greenwood is now president of the Farmer's Union in this area. The election was held in Evansburg on Tuesday night.

There was a fire on the farm of Fred Fausaks on Friday night when their chicken house burned down but thanks to the prompt action of the fire truck the other buildings were saved.

Mrs. M. Blanchard is now back to spend the summer at the Tuffin farm.

RENO NEWS

(Too late for last week)

Karl Kobel is back from Germany. One of Pete Kaminski's heifers had twins recently. Joe Tudge goes to Lodgepole every Monday to help his brother-in-law, Earl Jensen to unload a large trailer truck. He remains in the Valley overnight and returns home early Tuesday morning. Mr. John (Grampa) Tudge hasn't been able to get about much lately due to an old war injury to his foot which keeps acting up.

Farmers are anxiously waiting the first opportunity, no matter how small, to commence this spring's work in the fields. One of the first sure signs that spring is close at hand is the large attendance at each and every farm auction. Farmers, restless, eager and expectant, bid high for to purchase something is one thing accomplished in that long wait for spring which seems without end. In about a week the steady buzz of tractors should be heard at every turn and the happy farmers on these tractors, enveloped in a cloud of dust will herald the start of a new planting season.

Ed Schuster Named Deputy Fire Chief

The Evansburg Volunteer Fire Department held its regular monthly meeting on April 5th with an attendance of fourteen firemen.

Ed Schuster was elected Deputy Chief, to replace Steve Lamoureux who moved to Edson recently.

The Fire Alarm phone formerly in Steve's house will be moved to the home of John Lauer, Department Secretary. The other three alarm phones are presently situated in the Evansburg Hotel, and the homes of Fire Chief Jim Hunter and Newly-elected Deputy Chief Ed Schuster.

There is some interest by residents in the area immediately outside the Village to having the Fire Department reduce the fire hazard around their homes by burning the grass. It was decided that the Fire Department proper could not provide such a service, however it's individual members would help out in this regard providing the property had secured a burning permit.

Also on the topic of burning grass but within the Village, it was decided to provide this service only following a formal request to the Village Office by each property owner, giving the Fire Department authority to enter the property, burn the grass, with the property owner assuming full responsibility for any damage that might result.

It was decided that the Fire Department discontinue giving annual awards for 100% attendance at meetings, and use the money for an annual social outing for the firemen and their wives.

A budget was drawn up for the 1971 Fire Department expenditures. This is to be presented to the Village Council for approval at its next meeting.

It is the department policy to have a fireman take charge of inspecting the fire truck and equipment to insure that at all times it is fireworthy and ready to go. Fireman George Tuttle volunteered to take this job until the next meeting on June 2nd.

New Cattle Disease Found in Alberta

A relatively new cattle disease in Alberta has been diagnosed on four premises during the last year.

Known as hemophilus meningencephalitis or sleeper syndrome this disease mainly affects cattle of 800 to 1,000 pounds that have been on feed for one to four months. Although it is infectious the number of animals affected in a group is usually low. However, the percentage may go as high as 10. The mortality rate in affected animals runs about 95 per cent. A number of feedlots in Oklahoma and California have reported serious losses from hemophilus meningencephalitis.

According to Dr. D.M. Mac-

Donald, pathologist with the Alberta veterinary services laboratory, stiffness, reluctance to move and a high fever are the first signs of the disease. Holding the head low is another characteristic sign. Stupor, weakness and paralysis may also occur with circling and blindness being noted occasionally. Dr. MacDonald says that convulsions often occur during the terminal stages and that death commonly occurs within six hours of the first signs of illness.

He urges cattlemen who suspect that they may have a case of hemophilus meningencephalitis in their animals to contact their veterinarian immediately for an accurate diagnosis and treatment recommendations. This disease is very easy to confuse with other diseases which affect the brain of cattle such as listeriosis and poliomyelomalacia.

No satisfactory control measures have yet been developed, but the usual sanitary procedures are strongly recommended. If persistent outbreaks occur in a feedlot it may be necessary to turn the cattle out on pasture. Vaccines, says Dr. MacDonald, have been used in some parts of the United States but results are still inconclusive.

EVANSBURG NEWS

A grass fire got out of control Wednesday morning and burned down one of the first houses used as a mine house in Evansburg. The building was owned by Mr. Rycerz and used as a machine and tool shed. All the machinery was burned except the tractor. Thanks to the quick action of our volunteer fire department the house and barn were saved.

Mrs. Joe Stewart has visiting with her a sister, Mrs. Hannigan of Austin, Texas.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stevens on the birth of a baby girl. Terry is vice-principal of the high school.

Visitors to the town last week were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wolff (one-time businessman here) visiting old friends. Otto returned a few days later to do some repair work on the liquor store building and give it a new paint job.

Wind that gusted to 50 m.p.h. or more, did it's share of damage on Thursday, ripping shingles off houses, up-rooting trees, blowing away signs and breaking windows.

Progress Report At N.D.P. Meeting

A meeting of Directors of the campaign for Alvin Hammacy, New Democratic candidate for the constituency of Drayton Valley, was held last Friday, May 7th at the Winfield home of Mr. Rod Ollenberger.

Fifteen members attended from most parts of the new electorate to hear a progress report on the campaign.

Mr. Hammacy told the meeting that plans were well in hand. He outlined a list of issues important in the Drayton Valley Riding, and summarized New Democratic Party policy in these areas.

Mr. Hammacy was firmly of the opinion that in view of the vote cast in the last provincial election in those areas which are now parts of the new constituency, he could win the seat for the New Democratic Party.

He said that anyone who desired any real change from the old Social Credit Government had no alternative other than the New Democratic Party. The other parties had different politicians, but the New Democrats had different policies.

Mr. Hammacy said he would be visiting as many of the electors of Drayton Valley as possible in the weeks before the election, and he expressed the hope that electors would make him aware of their problems and what they felt to be major issues to the electorate.

ANTIBIOTICS AND CALF SCOURS

Antibiotics alone are not the answer to preventing or curing calf scours.

This view is held by Dr. B. Beck, pathologist at the Alberta veterinary services' laboratory in Edmonton. He explains that although such things as virus infections and nutritional deficiencies play a part in calf scours, the main cause is the micro-organism E. coli. It is a normal inhabitant of the intestines of healthy animals, but can cause trouble when a calf's physiological equilibrium is upset through stress. Stress causing situations include substitute diets, chilling, overcrowding, poor sanitation, malnutrition and failure on the part of the calf to drink the cow's first milk. Any one of these factors can cause a change in the intestine of the calf and permit these organisms to increase and become pathogenic, or disease-producing. The pathogenic organisms are then passed out in the calf's droppings and infect other calves. Hence, the spiralling effect of the infection.

The main reason that calf scours are so difficult to treat, says Dr. Beck, is that the calves do not die from the direct effect of the disease-producing germs, but from the dehydration caused by the diarrhea resulting from the infection. Satisfactory treatment depends on correcting the effect of the diarrhea as well as on destroying the organisms responsible.

When antibiotics alone are relied upon to cure calf scours, they fail at time because they do not correct the effect of the dehydration, and, also, because the bacteria have the ability to develop resistance to the drug. Proper treatment of scours, says Dr. Beck, has many facets which involve not only antibiotics but supportive therapy such as intravenous feeding and other electrolytes. Still another aspect involves prevention through correcting farm practices which promote the disease. These include calving cows in contaminated yards, neglecting supplemental vitamin A feeding, neglecting to disinfect the navel of a new born calf and using cold, wet, drafty calving areas. According to Dr. Beck, feeding preventative levels of antibiotics in milk or feed is one of the most detrimental methods of attempting to control calf scours. He points out that it can produce a large number of antibiotic resistant micro-organism strains which make the disease even more difficult to treat.

Dr. Beck thinks that there will probably always be calf scours as long as there are calves, and that there is virtually no chance of a sure cure within the next five years. Some research is being done, but the fact that the causative organisms are inhabitants of healthy animals and that the stress which ultimately causes the disease comes from many of our modern animal husbandry practices, makes the problem difficult to deal with. Until our husbandry practices and methods of handling calves change, says Dr. Beck, calf scours will not be eliminated or even subdued.

LIBRARY NEWS

Applications are solicited for the position of library assistant. A grade ten student interested in staying for at least two years preferred. Applications should be addressed to: Mr. William Johannesson, Secretary, Drayton Valley Library Board, Box 398, Drayton Valley. Applications will be received until June 4, 1971.

Miss Connie Jones's resignation has been accepted with regret. Connie has been a most satisfactory assistant but girls do graduate and go on to their life work and in this all Connie's friends at the library wish her every success.

Parents of small children are asked to watch for the new books continuously arriving for young children. These books are beautifully illustrated, and very expensive. It is appreciated if parents give adequate supervision when children are using them.

In the juvenile section this weeks arrivals include Emily

Bronte's classic "Wuthering Heights", a short book by Constance Greene called "Leo the Lioness" which refers to the zodiac - not the zoo, and "Skin Diver" by Zachary Ball.

For adults we have "Melbury Square" Dorothy Eden's latest; Delderfield's "Theirs was the Kingdom" a sequel to "God is an Englishman"; "Nightfall" a science fiction collection of stories by Isaac Asimov; "Raise High the Roof Beam" by J. D. Salinger hardly needs any comment; "The Best Loved Poems of the American People" has been collected by Hazel Felleman; "How to Conduct a Meeting" is from the Dun and Bradstreet Business Library; "101 Costumes for All Ages and All Occasions" by Richard Cummings gives ideas for costume parties.

D. V. Highlights

BY MRS. EDITH DEBY

Mrs. Cornelia Wood was the guest speaker at the Annual Constituency Conference of the Women's Institute held in Sangudo last Wednesday. The topic of Mrs. Wood's address was "W.I. Past and Present". Mrs. Wood is particularly well equipped to talk on this subject for she has been a W.I. member since her early youth and is, I believe, a charter member of the Stony Plain Branch. Her coverage was thorough. New members must have found her address enlightening and all of us found it inspiring.

It will be remembered that Ted Boodle works for the Federal Government in the North. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Boodle and their two sons were moved to Inuvik. In a recent letter to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Look, Mrs. Boodle spoke of food prices. Milk is $1.25 a quart; carrots 83¢ a lb; potatoes 47¢ a lb.; bananas 35¢ each and oranges 17¢ each. The Boodles will be coming to Whitecourt for six months while Ted takes a refresher course.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamdon Hamdon left by air on Saturday for a six week visit in their native Lebanon. It has been twenty years since Mr. Hamdon has seen his native land and one can understand that last Saturday morning he was far from calm.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rasmusson were in Penticton to spend the Mother's Day weekend with Mr. Rasmusson's mother. They found the Okanagan very lovely with fruit trees in full bloom.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Barry Arnold on the arrival of their daughter. Mrs. Arnold is the former Christine Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines. The newcomer has been given the name of Etheline Eleanor.

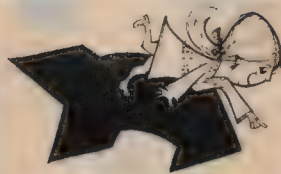

Get well wishes go to Mr. Ivan Vowk who is a patient in an Edmonton Hospital.

A salute to Saturday's gallant marchers who came in with smiles on their faces and in many cases blisters on their feet.

Congratulations to Mrs. Maxine Weishaar and Mrs. Inga Hawryluk who have just completed successfully their fourth seminar in the Duncan School of Ceramics. Their certificates enable them to teach ceramics anywhere in Canada or the U.S. Mrs. Hawryluk plans to start her own classes in the fall. At present Mrs. Weishaar is keeping her training to use as a hobby but she is willing to help Mrs. Hawryluk if needed.

Canada's crop licensing system may seem a bit stringent, but to those in the know it has a very valid application. It protects seed users against inferior seed varieties and prevents the sale of seed under false colors -- that is, new, modified or false variety names.

A third positive aspect is that only those varieties tested in Canada and that can be grown profitably on Canadian farms are sold, advertised or imported.

Former Brightwood Resident Passes

A former district resident, Clement McKillop passed away suddenly on May 7th at his home in Seba Beach district. He was 63 year old.

Mr. McKillop was born in Pennsylvania and went with his parents to Fernie, B. C. where his Dad worked in a macaroni factory which was owned by his uncle. When he was four years old the family moved onto a farm in Brightwood. This farm is presently owned by Keith Hoople and is on the old Drayton Valley Highway.

He attended school in both Brightwood and Entwistle and High School in Calgary. He returned to Brightwood where he and his brother, Chris, operated a sawmill.

In 1931 he married Hilda Galpin. They farmed for one year on the quarter one mile north of the Brightwood Hall and then he returned to the sawmill business on this same quarter until he moved his family to a farm they bought at Seba Beach. He continued to saw lumber until 1942 when he and his brother went north for a year along the Alaska Highway to saw logs.

He returned to Seba Beach and was employed as a maintenance man for the village until last year.

He is survived by his loving wife, Hilda, at home; three sons: Bob and Allan of Grande Prairie, and Dave at home. ## Commissioner Reports Brighter Market Outlook

Export prospects look bright for a number of Alberta products according to the province's marketing commissioner who recently returned from a four-week tour of nine European countries.

Harry Hargrave reports that British trading firms in London indicated an interest in Canadian barley. They also said that Alberta's surplus pork products might be moved to Eastern European countries.

In Brussels Mr. Hargrave held discussions with officials of the European Economic Community as well as with members of the Canadian Embassy and the Mission of Canada to the E.E.C. They all agreed that the United Kingdom, Ireland, Norway and Denmark will almost certainly join the six-member E.E.C. shortly and stated that the larger community will make every effort to become self-sufficient in food production. A massive farm consolidation program is underway to make agriculture in the E.E.C. countries more efficient and viable. However, it was also agreed that self-sufficiency will not be possible in such things as wheat, feed grains, red meat, vegetable oils and fats. It is anticipated that the enlarged E.E.C. which will be the largest trading block in the world, could provide markets for a much wider range of Canadian raw materials and secondary manufactured products five years from now.

Swiss consultants advised Mr. Hargrave that there is an increasing interest in Canadian rapeseed in many European countries. Increasing labor costs and a number of other factors are causing the olive groves to disappear in southern Europe. The Swiss officials suggested the idea of jointly-owned rapeseed storage facilities on the Mediterranean coast to facilitate large shipments of rapeseed and to have it readily available for European crushers. Mr. Hargrave says that samples of Alberta salad oil made from rapeseed are being sent to Switzerland because some Europeans do not realize that it can be used for almost all the same purposes as salad oil made from other vegetable oil crops.

In Switzerland, Italy and Austria Mr. Hargrave received enquiries about sources of commercial fertilizer here and price quotations. F.A.O. officials in Rome gave him the details of that organization's 10-year fertilizer program and indicated that it could provide export opportunities for Alberta's fertilizer industry.

Officials of the Canadian Embassy in Rome requested samples of alfalfa pellets being processed in this province with a view to possible imports. The Italian market would provide an alternative to the Japanese market.

Italy and Greece, which import most of their red meat products, expressed an interest in Canadian cattle. Mr. Hargrave says. Since Italy does not allow importation of beef that was fed or implanted with stilbesterol, it is not interested in importing Canadian beef products. However, embassy officials in Milan and Rome indicated a definite interest in Canadian feeder cattle of 400 pounds; Hereford bull calves; and 80 to 100-pound dairy bull and heifer calves. The heavy bull calves are fed to market at 1,200 to 1,400 pounds and the light-weight calves are marketed as veal at about 300 pounds live weight.

Trading companies in Athens would like to import 1,500 bred Hereford heifers; 3,100 bred Holstein heifers; 2,000 week-old bull or heifer feeder calves; and up to 20,000 Suffolk or crossbred ewes. They indicated that credit arrangements extending over three to five years would facilitate such livestock importations.

European interest in Alberta coking coal was very keen in Brussels, Dusseldorf, Paris, Milan and Athens. Discussions with investment consultants in Switzerland indicated that companies with sizeable amounts of capital could be interested in participating with Alberta companies in developing new coking coal sources for the European market. Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Austria were all interested in Alberta sulphur.

MARSH WILL-O-THE-WISP

Secretive but inquisitive, the long-billed marsh wren inhabits dense stands of a marshes cattail reeds. There, it is an elusive will-o-the-wisp, scolding the intruder, while darting among the sheltering reeds, now in front now behind. This wren builds a globe shaped nest, woven into reed stalks, with the entrance in the side. The male will build several dummy nests in the vicinity of the one occupied. No satisfactory explanation as to why has yet been discovered.

Medium grades of steers were more active closing 50-1.00 higher with less discounts on the heavier weights. Butcher heifers were in fair supply, especially 750# and under weights which continued to sell under pressure 25-50 lower. The estimated total cost of Eighty-Five Percent (85%) of the aforesaid project amounts to Nine Hundred Thousand Dollars ($900,000.00); the Minister of Public Works having agreed to defer collection from the County of Parkland No. 31, the Town of Spruce Grove and the Town of Stony Plain, of Fifteen Percent (15%) of the total cost of construction of the aforesaid project. 5. The petition shall be filed with the municipal secretary who shall, in accordance with the Act, compute the number of petitioners that have signed the petition and determine the sufficiency thereof.

6. Every petition shall have attached to it a signed statement of a person whose name appears upon the petition, stating that he represents the petitioners and that he is the person to whom the municipality may direct any enquiries with regard to the petition.

7. No name shall be removed from the petition after it has been received by the municipal secretary.

8. If two or more money By-laws are advertised in a single notice, a separate petition shall be filed with respect to each By-law on which a vote is requested.

9. The date of the last publication of this Notice is May 25, 1971.

NOTE: If on receipt of a valid and sufficient petition the Council decides not to proceed with the By-law, a vote of the proprietary electors need not be held.

A word of caution is necessary at this time of year approaching Empire Day, the holiday this year on May 24th.

Each of the cities and a number of towns and villages in Alberta have by-laws controlling the sale and setting off of fireworks. Generally there are restrictions as to the amount of shop goods allowed on display and limiting the period of displays or sales of shop goods. The sale of fireworks to children of tender years is banned but the legal age varies in different municipalities all the way from 14 years to 21 years. All by-laws provide for controlled displays under permit and by such permit certain conditions such as location, timing and supervision are stipulated.

The main trouble with fireworks has been caused by the reckless use of fire crackers in the hands of unsupervised children. There have been many serious injuries and considerable fire damage each year. The City of Calgary prohibits the sale of and the setting off of fire crackers. In the City of Edmonton it is illegal to set off fire crackers on any road, street, park or public place and if fire crackers are placed in the hands of children they can only be set off on private property with the consent of the owner and under the supervision of an adult.

As Fire Commissioner, I would appeal to all persons to prevent accidents and fire through the use of fire crackers. A special warning now is to know the law concerning fireworks in your municipality. It is well to remember that a person could be held liable for injuries or damage by fires resulting from unlawful sale, use, storage or display of fireworks.

The future is in our hands.

Most Canadians believe in that thought. They believe it with all their hearts. Others believe in it, but won't lift a finger to do anything about it. Not all fingers are born equal. That's why, if we're going to keep this country together, some need more lifting than others.

Perhaps, had Canada not been blessed with so vast a geography and an archipelago of people along its southern edge, our problems might have been different. But here we are.

A population stretching east and west, dotted with islands of self-interest.

So what do we do about it? Build fences around its separate regions?

There is a lot we can do. First thing, we should start caring and understanding. Not just about our own neighborhood, but about all of Canada. We've got to help all those people and parts of Canada that need it most. How else can we keep our country together?

There is a have Canada, and a have-not Canada. The have-nots from coast to coast need our help. It will take time and in the process we may make some mistakes. But the first step is to want to help.

If all of us start caring and understanding our fellow Canadian, surely we'll come together. If we don't, we'll come apart. Do we want to have Canada, or have-not Canada?

Only we have the answer.

Canada. Stand together. Understand together.

Census to Ask For Farm Facts

OTTAWA -- Canada's farmers will have two questionnaires to fill in for the 1971 Census. In addition to the population and housing questionnaire, by which they and their families will be counted, they will also get a 1971 Census of Agriculture form. Answers to this questionnaire by an estimated 400,000 farmers will provide detailed information on the state of Canadian agriculture.

Everyone operating an agricultural holding of one acre or more and having sold $50 or more of agricultural products in 1970 will be required to fill in a Census of Agriculture form.

This year's farm census, which has some new questions as compared with previous censuses, will yield significant information on changes in patterns of agricultural production.

Questionnaires in the farm census will be dropped off at farmhouses, along with the population and housing questionnaires, in the last week of May. In both cases, farmers will be asked to complete their own questionnaires. The forms will be picked up by census representatives starting June 2.

The farm questionnaire is, at first glance, a formidable-looking document. It asks 199 questions -- but in such a way that it is easy for the farmer to skip questions that do not apply to him and answer only those that apply to his particular operation. The questionnaire has been carefully designed to make it as easy as possible for the farmer to fill it in correctly.

Two of the new questions in the 1971 farm census -- one on fertilizer use, the other on spraying and dusting -- are designed to yield information on technological changes in agricultural practices. Another new question asks about the type of farm ownership -- whether private, partnership, institutional, or incorporated.

The most important information on changes in agricultural production patterns will come from answers to the basic questions: those on acreages, land use, crops, livestock and poultry. Policy planners and marketing agencies will be looking at the compilations derived from these answers for such information as: the extent of the shift out of wheat into other grains, and other field crops; the rate of increase in oilseeds production, and the growth in the importance of oilseeds as cash crops; the extent of shifts from crops into livestock and as between kinds of livestock; and how farms are continuing to decrease in number and increase in average acreage.

While such trends can be estimated to reasonable degrees of accuracy by sample surveys between censuses, the Census of Agriculture is needed every five years to provide new benchmark information on which to base succeeding estimates.

In addition, the Census is the only source of national cropland data and livestock and poultry inventories for any given small area in Canada. Such information is essential to studies on crop and livestock production and marketing, and in studies on farms classified by size, type and economic class.

These studies, in turn, are basic to all policy planning and decision making in marketing programs. They also provide information for the use of farm organizations and the provincial extension services in their programs for the development of agriculture, as well as for use by farmers themselves.

A basic trend in Canadian agriculture, evident since 1951, will undoubtedly be repeated in the 1971 Census results: a continuing decline in the number of farms, combined with an increase in the average acreage per farm. In 1966, the number of farms was 430,522, down 10.5 per cent from 480,903 in 1961.

In the same period, the average farm size increased to 404 acres from 359, a trend experienced by every province except Newfoundland. On a regional basis, the Prairies had the largest increase, to an average of 685 acres from 617 in 1961; by contrast, the increase in the Central Region averaged only 10 acres -- up to 161 from 151.

Of greater importance than the size and the number of census farms in what is being done with them. This has been highlighted by wheat-marketing problems in recent years, shifts in world markets for other Canadian agricultural products, and the ways in which Canadian farmers have adapted their production to meet these changes.

What the census tells on changes in land use and production patterns since the 1966 census is therefore invaluable for planning, as it affects the future of Canadian farmers in world markets.

Auxiliary Plans Dinner Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Hospital Auxiliary it was decided to hold a dinner meeting in June at the Cadium Room.

Florence Romano will be phoning all members and associate members about arrangements in due course.

A Bake Sale for June 4th was also arranged. All members are asked to contribute magazines for the hospital, at the next meeting.

The spoon donated annually to the baby born on "Florence Nightingale Day", May 12th, goes to Jason Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Letwin.

Everyone seemed pleased with response to the Tea and Art Exhibition held recently and we would like to express our thanks to all those who were in any way connected with and contributed to its success.

Special thanks to all members and associate members who helped on the day; to Jacobs Construction for practical assistance and advice; to Imperial Lumber and Mrs. Gottschalk for lending equipment, to Rudi Merscher, Ellens' Ceramics, Drayton Valley Ceramics Clubs and Barb Eckert of the Art Club for donation of the door prize.

Since rapeseed and mustard seed are inseparable, it is not practical to produce both crops on the same farm or even in the same district.

Stamp Commemorates Immortal Poem

Newfoundland, which of course issued its own stamps before joining the Confederation in 1949, produced a set of 12 stamps in January 1919 showing the caribou and inscribed with the battle honours of the Newfoundland contingent in World War I. Later, in 1923 and 1928, Newfoundland also depicted her war memorials on stamps.

Special postmarks publicising the poppy funds in aid of ex-servicemen's welfare have been used by many Commonwealth countries at various times, including Canada, Newfoundland, Rhodesia and Great Britain. The poppy motif also appeared on stamps issued by New Zealand and her Pacific Island dependencies in 1965 to mark the 50th Anniversary of the Gallipoli landings.

The Gallipoli campaign has been remembered more time on stamps than any other event of the First World War. Australia issued two stamps in 1935 marking the 20th anniversary and the following year New Zealand also issued "Gallipoli" stamps which bore a small premium in aid of ex-servicemen's charities. Australia again issued three stamps in 1965 for the Gallipoli 50th anniversary. The stamps showed one of the heroes of Gallipoli, a Private Simpson and a donkey with which he rescued many of his wounded comrades during the fighting. Fittingly, Turkey issued in 1965 three charity stamps in honour of the combatants of both sides. One stamp showed Turkish, Australian and New Zealand soldiers presenting arms at the Gallipoli war memorial.

Naturally the grim reminder of war is not one which is featured lightly or often on stamps. Yet there are times when it can raise a smile of sorts, at least among keen philatelists.

Take, for example, the 1½d and 2½d stamps which Jamaica released in 1919 showing the departure and the return of the Jamaican World War I contingent. The 2½d stamp featured the Union Jack in the side panels of the stamp and it was quickly discovered, to the embarrassment of the Jamaicans and the delight of curio-seeking philatelists, that the flag was upside down -- the distress signal! The error was swiftly corrected.

More recently there is the case of the current 15¢ Seychelles definitive stamp. It supposedly features the German battleship Koenigsberg which raided the Indian Ocean in 1914. In fact not only does the stamp show the wrong ship -- Koenigsberg II -- but it bears the incorrect year, 1915!

Many thousands of people throughout the world have reason to remember the young Canadian poet John Macrae who was killed in action barely three weeks before the end of World War I.

Macrae's immortal poem "In Flanders Fields" with its opening lines... "In Flanders fields the poppies blow, Between the crosses row on row..." not only poignantly underlined the horrors of war but also prompted the adoption of the Flanders poppy as the emblem of remembrance for the dead of both world wars.

The links which Macrae's poem thus helped establish among so many people will be brought to mind again later this year -- with the issue of a unique British postage stamp.

Three special Anniversary stamps are to be issued by Britain on August 25 and one will be to mark the golden jubilee of the British Legion -- the non-political, non-sectarian organization open to all men and women who have served with the forces of the Crown. The British Legion was founded by Earl Haig in 1921.

The stamp will be unique because it will be the first time that a British stamp will have directly referred to World War I in its theme. The nearest previous reference was when a famous first war fighter plane -- the Sopwith Camel -- was featured with modern jets on a 1968 stamp commemorating the golden jubilee of the Royal Air Force.

Perhaps because of the special relationship between Canada and France, Canadian stamps have several times featured themes related to World War I. The most memorable was, perhaps, the 5¢ stamp issued in 1968 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of John Macrae's death. The stamp bore his portrait and the first lines of "In Flanders Fields". In the same year a 15¢ stamp marked the 50th anniversary of the Armistice and showed the Canadian War Memorial at Vimy Ridge. In fact France had herself issued two stamps and special postcards in 1936 when the Vimy Ridge Memorial was first unveiled. Three years later Canada featured her war memorials on a set of stamps.

Try the Classifieds for results.

THE FLANDERS POPPY--FEATURED IN CANADIAN POET JOHN MACRAE'S "IN FLANDERS FIELDS"--HAS IN MANY COUNTRIES BECOME THE EMBLEM OF REMEMBRANCE FOR THE DEAD OF BOTH WORLD WARS.

A BRITISH POSTAGE STAMP TO BE ISSUED IN AUGUST, WILL MARK THE 50th ANNIVERSARY OF THE BRITISH LEGION EXSERVICEMEN'S ASSOCIATION AND PROMPT WORLDWIDE MEMORIES OF THE FLANDERS POPPY AND MACRAE'S POEM.
